

Editorial: The Future of International Civil Procedure Law

Anton K. Schnyder

On 7 and 8 June 2001, a symposium was held in Basel on the future of international civil procedure law. This symposium dealt both with the reform of the European conventions and with the efforts towards a universal convention (the draft Hague Convention) on jurisdiction and enforcement of foreign judgements. Internationally-known experts from Germany, Hungary, and Switzerland made well-founded contributions to a timely and exciting discourse.

The present volume of the European Journal of Law Reform contains updated English versions of the papers presented at the symposium in Basel.
